

ABSTRACT

The present invention provides an electrostatic bonding macromolecular micelle drug carrier comprising a block copolymer having a non-chargeable segment and a chargeable segment, for stably carrying a chargeable drug tending to be easily decomposed in vivo such as protein and DNA.